[Registered as a Newspaper.]

BRITISH ASSOCIATION for the ADVANCEMENT of SCIENCE, 22 Albemarle Street, London, W.

The next ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING will be held at DUBLIN, commencing on WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14.

PRESIDENT-ELECT:

W. SPOTTISWOODE, Esq., LL.D., F.R.S., F.R.A.S., F.R.G.S.
NOTICE to CONTRIBUTORS of MEMOIRS.—Authors are reminded that, under an arrangement dating from 1871, the acceptance of Memoirs, and the days on which they are to be read, are now, as far as possible, determined by Organizing Committees for the several Sections before the beginning of the Meeting. It has therefore become necessary, in order to give an opportunity to the Committees of doing justice to the several Communications, that each Author should prepare an Abstract of his Memoir, of a length suitable for insertion in the published Transactions of the Association, and that he should send it, together with the original Memoir, by book-post, on or before August 1, addressed thus:—General Secretaries, British Association, 22 Albemarle Street, London, W. For Section..... If it should be inconvenient to the Author that his Paper should be read on any particular day, he is requested to send information thereof to the Secretaries in a separate note.

G. GRIFFITH, M.A.,

HURST & BLACKETT'S NEW WORKS.

CONVERSATIONS with M. THIERS, M.

GUIZOT, and other Distinguished Persons, during the Second Empire. By the late NAUSSAU W. SENIOR. Edited by his Daughter, M. C. M. SIMPSON. 2 vols. 8vo. 30s.

"This new series of Mr. Senior's 'Conversations' has been for some years past known in manuscript to his more intimate friends, and it has always been felt that no former series would prove more valuable or important. Mr. Senior had a social position which gave him admission into the best literary and political circles of Paris. He was a cultivated and sensible man, who knew how to take full advantage of such an opening. And above all, he had by long practice so trained his memory as to enable it to recall all the substance, and often the words, of the long conversations which he was always holding. These conversations he wrote down with a surprising accuracy, and then handed the manuscript to his friends, that they might correct or modify his report of what they had said. This book thus contains the opinions of eminent men given in the freedom of conversation, and afterwards carefully revised. Of their value there cannot be a question. The book is one of permanent historical interest. There is scarcely a page without some memorable statement by some memorable man. Politics and society and literature—the three great interests that make up life, are all discussed in turn, and there is no discussion which is unproductive of weighty thought or striking fact."—Athenæum.

"The present selection of Mr. Senior's Journals, edited with remarkable skill and judgment by Mrs. Simpson, is extraordinarily full and interesting. Although the unreserved and original communications of Thiers are especially fascinating, the book would be abundantly interesting if it consisted only of the reports of conversations with Guizot, Montalembert, Cousin, Lamartine, and other persons of celebrity and eminence."—Saturday Review.

"The two new volumes of the late Mr. Nassau Senior's most interesting conversations give us the ideas of some eminent foreign statesmen on the Eastern Question. They embrace the eventful years from 1852 to 1860, during which Mr. Senior paid prolonged visits to Paris, and conversed on the most confidential terms with some of the shrewdest men of the time. They set forth the opinions of those who had the best means of informing themselves on Russian objects and English interests. They abound, besides, in most interesting details as to the personal character of the Emperor Nicholas and his successors, as to the relations of Russia and Austria; as to the social condition and resources of the two empires; as to the considerations that govern their policy, and their respective capabilities as fighting powers."—Blackwood's Magazine.

"These conversations extend from the year 1852 to 1860, and will be found to refer to some of the most interesting public events of our own time—the Revolution of 1848, the Crimean War, the French Alliance, the attempt on the life of Louis Napoleon, the Indian Mutiny, and the Italian Campaign of 1859. Besides these great public occurrences of European celebrity, we have many very curious and piquant anecdotes of a private character, and expressions of opinion on men and things of persons of eminence. All that is said in these volumes of France, England, and Russia is as interesting now as when it was first uttered."—Standard.

HERZEGE DEERING. 1 vol. 8vo, 15s.

"Lady Chatterton's Diary gives a sketch of society during an interesting period. Mr. Dering may be congratulated on having furnished a graceful epilogue to the story of an interesting life."—Athenæum.

A LEGACY: being the LIFE and REMAINS of JOHN MARTIN, Schoolmaster and Poet. Written and edited by the Author of "JOHN HALIFAX, GENTLEMAN." 2 vols., 21s.

"A beautiful and pathetic story."—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE NEW NOVELS.

The PRIMROSE PATH. By Mrs. Oliphant,

Author of "Chronicles of Carlingford," &c. 3 vols.

"Mrs. Oliphant's new novel has merits which will recommend it to the general public, and it should be hailed with something like enthusiasm by all who happen to have, like Sir Ludovic Leslie, 'a warm heart for Fife.' A prettier or more idiomatic Scotch story it would be difficult to find, and the judiciousness of the author in the picturesque of its descriptive setting cannot fail to be appreciated. There is not a character without individuality from one end of the book to the other."—Athenæum.

"Whatever Mrs. Oliphant writes is sure to be worth reading. 'The Primrose Path' contains many graceful and touching passages, relieved throughout with flashes of that refined and delicate humour to which she has accustomed us."—John Bull.

WOOD ANEMONE. By Mrs. Randolph,

Author of "Gentianella," "Wild Hyacinth," &c. 3 vols.

HIS LAST STAKE. By Shirley Smith,

Author of "All for Herself," &c. 3 vols.

CALEB BOOTH'S CLERK. By Mrs. G.

LINNEUS BANKS, Author of "The Manchester Man," &c.

"This book is written with power, and is a capital story, which we found it difficult to lay down."—Spectator.

"The author tells her tale with great skill. There is not a dull page in the book."—Scotsman.

MARGERY TRAVERS. By Miss Bewicke,

Author of "Onwards, but Whither?" &c. 3 vols.

"Margery Travers' is written with a good deal of power, and has some boldly drawn characters and vivid dialogue."—Academy.

BROTHER GABRIEL. By M. Betham-

EDWARDS, Author of "Kitty," "Bridget," &c. 3 vols.

"This book may be read with pleasure. It is carefully written, and contains very pleasant sketches of character."—Academy.

"This novel is a very good one, and decidedly worthy of the success it is sure to gain."—Post.

BOTH IN THE WRONG. By Mrs. John

NOTICE.—A NEW NOVEL by the Popular Author of "A Canadian Heroine," "Against Her Will," &c.

LADY'S HOLM. By Annie L.

WALKER, Author of "Against Her Will," "A Canadian Heroine," &c. 3 vols. 31s. 6d.

ELIOT THE YOUNGER: a Fiction in Freehand. By BERNARD BARKER. 3 vols. 31s. 6d.

The Standard says:—"The story is invariably interesting. The language is generally simple, pure, and scholarly, and, when the occasion calls for it, lofty, and even eloquent. In describing a good, fair woman, or the next most beautiful thing, a young spring day, Mr. Barker writes poetry in very noble prose. The writer is often humorous, and occasionally brilliant of fancy. Almost every page contains an epigram or a clever saying worth remembering. There are little touches of nature too, worthy of Thackeray."

The Spectator says:—"Lively and entertaining. It is smartly and sometimes wittily written. The father of Eliot the Younger is a figure drawn not without considerable skill, and talks in a way which we do not the less enjoy because it reminds us very strongly of Miss Austen. The intellectual man, placed in the midst of rural society, and finding a certain satisfaction in a quiet sarcasm which no one about him understands, is a person whom we are glad to have met. Nor is the book without a higher aim. If a lad ever learns from a book, he might learn by contrasting the rational and ennobling love of the hero for Margaret Ogilvie, with his foolish passion for Miss Brooke and Phoebe Langham."

The Athenæum says:—"Mr. Barker's story has several merits. The relations between Phoebe Langham and the young Oxonian are eminently natural. The Skimpole-like Draycott and the cynical Ogilvie, Oscar Dale and Margaret, all are substantial entities."

The Scotsman says:—"A clever, readable, and enjoyable novel. In both its phases the story is a good one. The personages are drawn with vigour, and with a light, graceful touch, which it is positively refreshing to encounter. The descriptions of the life and society of Bohemia are realistic too; they give the impression that the author is familiar with the scenes and people he so gracefully and tenderly sketches. There is also a good deal of light humour in the book."

The Sunday Times says:—"Decidedly a wholesome, stirring novel. The hero of the story takes our fancy from the first, and never ceases to interest till the last page of the book."

Financial Opinion says:—"These three volumes contain more wit, and wisdom, and poetry, and epigram than would set up a score of average novelists. A book which Peacock might have written, and which Charles Lamb would have chuckled over."

MAID ELLICE. By the Author of

"Pretty Miss Bellew," "True to Her Trust," &c. 3 vols.

31s. 6d.

The Sunday Times says:—"An original and clever story. We can heartily recommend 'Maid Ellice' to our readers."

The Scotsman says:—"Vigour in the conception and dramatic force in the working out of distinctive studies of character are the especial qualities of this novel. The plot, though exceedingly complicated, is skilfully managed, and the book altogether possesses an individuality and an originality, both in subject and treatment, which are as welcome as they are rare."

The Standard says:—"Maid Ellice' is a book well worth reading."

SECOND EDITION OF

THE LITTLE LOO: a Tale of the South Sea. By SYDNEY MOSTYN, Author of the "Surgeon's Secret," &c. 3 vols. 31s. 6d.

The Spectator says:—"We have nothing but praise to give to the story. It is well conceived and powerfully told. Every detail is carefully contrived to give effect to the whole."

The Scotsman says:—"Mr. Mostyn's story is full of thrilling interest from the first page to the last. It is capably written."

The Sunday Times says:—"It is difficult in few words to convey the charm that this book possesses; from first to last the interest never flags."

Financial Opinion says:—"Not Marryat, or Dana, or Hermann Melville himself has written any better sea stories than this tale of 'The Little Loo.'"

WORLD.

"A work which, appearing at the present time, may be said to have a political as well as an archaeological historic interest. It not only contains the identification of venerable sites, but an extremely interesting account of the resources and opportunities of the Holy Land."

PALL MALL GAZETTE.

"The account of Lieut. Conder's labours is not merely the interesting record of a great work; it has the additional charm of being exceedingly well written; and it will always remain one of the most valuable contributions to the literature on Palestine."

SATURDAY REVIEW.

"There is an admirable summary of what may be regarded as the fixed and indisputable data for determining the vexed problems relating to the holy sites. Of the fertility and the resources of the country, the author gives in conclusion highly encouraging estimates."

GLOBE.

"While Lieut. Conder's most interesting pages are not above the requirements of the general reader, plenty of matter will be found in them to gratify more exacting demands. The scholarly attainments of the author have enabled him to lend interest to many places and scenes which the ordinary writer would be apt to pass without more remark than the mention of their names. His descriptive powers are also far above the average..... 'Tent Work in Palestine' is a credit to all concerned in its production."

PALL MALL GAZETTE.

"Miss Montgomery's charming novel..... from page to page life-like pictures are brought vividly before the reader, in turns pathetic, gloomy, gay. The story is charmingly fresh and attractive, and everywhere reveals remarkable powers of reflection and knowledge of human nature, and the interest is remarkably well sustained. There is always movement and never hurry."

THE GAMEKEEPER AT HOME; or,
Sketches of Natural History, Poaching, and Rural Life.
Crown 8vo, 5s.

"There are scenes in the gamekeeper's calling and its surroundings which will interest any lover of nature, even though he may not be an ardent sportsman, when placed before him in a style so graphic and so unaffected, and yet so true to life and nature, as that of the writer of the paper now before us. We can recommend the perusal of the book, not only to country gentlemen and sportsmen, but also to all who have a taste for natural history and for a study of human nature sketched from the life."—Examiner.

"A most delightful book—it will afford unwearied amusement alike to those who are deeply versed in or wholly ignorant of the country life it describes."—World.

"The public now reaps the advantage of Dr. Hill's researches in a most readable volume. Seldom has a pleasanter commentary been written on a literary masterpiece."—Saturday Review.

"Dr. Hill's book is brimful of original and independent research, and displays so complete a mastery of the whole subject that it must be regarded as only less essential to a true understanding of Johnson's life and character than Boswell himself."—World.

LADIES! READ THIS ADVERTISEMENT.

A DOWNRIGHT BARGAIN.
RUSSIAN FAILURE.—In consequence of a large Russian firm being unable to meet their acceptances owing to the late startling depreciation of the paper rouble—formerly worth 4s. 2½d., and now only 1s. 10d.—the Empire Sewing Machine Company, of 147 Victoria Street, London, E.C., have been enabled to purchase for cash 1,000 first-class Sewing Machines at about one-fourth of their real value. This machine is absolutely without a rival in the market. It is guaranteed to produce first-class workmanship at the rate of nearly

A MARVEL!
 1,500 stitches per minute, and may be thoroughly depended upon in every respect.

PRICE ONLY 27s. 6d. EACH.
 The lowest amount at which a good reliable Sewing Machine has ever been offered to the public. To prevent disappointment, and to ensure early execution, orders, with P.O.O. for 27s. 6d., made payable at General Post Office, to Mr. W. Sargent, Manager, Empire Sewing Machine Company, 147 Queen Victoria Street, London, E.C., should be sent in as soon as possible, since the demand for the Machine will undoubtedly be far in excess of the limited stock on hand.

N.B.—The Machines will be forwarded per return, carefully packed, to all parts of Great Britain and Ireland. Addresses must be plainly written, and any machine not approved of will be immediately exchanged.

Residents in the country will find this an admirable opportunity for obtaining a first-class Sewing Machine direct from the consignee—less both the manufacturer's and the retailer's profits, which usually amount to 65 per cent., and which come from the public pocket.

To those in want of a livelihood this Machine will be a great boon, making, as it does, about 1,500 stitches per minute. The profit accruing to the owner for one week's work will clear the expense originally incurred in purchasing it.

No application will be received after twenty-one days from this date, as a colonial firm has the refusal of any left on hand beyond that time.
